

Christmas Seal Design Contest Opens in Area

Area artists are being invited to enter the annual competition to design the traditional Christmas Seal for nationwide use. J. Chris Smith announced today. Smith is chairman of the seal design contest for the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Los Angeles County.

He said this year's competition will provide a $200 cash prize and a number of additional prizes to winners in Los Angeles and Orange Counties. Top national prize is $1,000.

Deadline in the local contest is Sept. 12, 1966. Co-sponsors are radio station KMPC and the TB associations of Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pasadena, and Orange County.

All entries in the area competition will be displayed at a public showing in early October. Immediately after the local show, entries will be shipped to New York City for consideration by a national judging panel.

Smith said production schedules require the Christmas Seal design be selected two years in advance of publication, so current entrants will be designing for the 1968 Christmas Seal.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION . . . New Watson-Dominquez Fire Station, scheduled for completion early this fall, will provide fire protection for the 750-acre, $175-million Watson Industrial Center and adjacent industrial, commercial and residential areas. The new station, County Fire Station 127, is located at 2060 223rd St. just east of Wilmington Avenue. The $107,700 fire station, being built by the C. A. Oakley construction firm of Pasadena, was designed by Edwin H. Ripperdan, A.I.A.

El Camino Will Add Italian During Fall

Italian will be introduced into the program of foreign language instruction at El Camino next fall, Dr. H. Lee Swanson, dean of the division of communications, announced today.

Two instructors, both of whom have been affiliated with the foreign language department for 10 years or more, will offer the two sections of Italian. Addition of the language to the curriculum increases the number of modern languages offered at El Camino to five.

Others are French, German, Russian, and Spanish. Elementary conversation courses are also offered in each language.

SCHEDULED to teach Italian in a section to be offered at 8 a.m. daily is Mrs. Florence Merzlake. Dr. Jeannette Campiglia will teach at 9 a.m. session. In addition to daily class sessions, the 75 students anticipated to enroll will spend one hour per week in the language laboratory. Addition of Italian to the college curriculum follows a two-year period of work by a committee meeting under the leadership of Dr. Campiglia. During this period, course materials were prepared, textbooks were evaluated and selected and surveys of interest were completed.

The course in Italian will assist students in acquiring a basic knowledge of vocabulary, grammar, reading, writing, and speaking. The prerequisite is a qualifying score on the English Placement Test or successful completion of English A.

"IF FALL enrollment justifies the continuation of the course, Italian II will be offered in the spring semester," Dr. Swanson explained.

Plans for sequential intermediate courses are being made in the event the elementary-level classes are successful, the dean said.

Information regarding registration for Italian and all other courses offered by the college is available in the college registration office.

He has been active in the Al Malaikah Shrine Temple, Delta Ta Delta, the American Correctional Association, and numerous law enforcement associations.

Gaalken repeatedly has denied rumors that the State Department of Corrections has offered him a top position on the department's advisory staff.

"There as no person in law enforcement today more capable of administering and advising on the function of correctional institutions," Pitchess said, "and it is with deepest regret that we see our long-time friend leave a field to which he has devoted the major part of his life."

When you are making close-up pictures, you'll find that there is a slight difference between what the lens sees and viewfinder sees, unless you are using a single lens reflex camera. Compensate for this by tipping the camera slightly upward.
